WisdomTree FTSE MIB 5x Daily Short

Investment Objective

WisdomTree FTSE MIB 5x Daily Short is a fully collateralised, UCITS eligible Exchange Traded Product (ETP) designed to provide investors with a leveraged short exposure to the FTSE MIB. The ETP provides a total return comprised of -5 times the daily performance of the FTSE MIB Total Return Index (TFTSEMIB), adjusted to reflect fees as well as the costs and revenues inherent to shorting stocks. For example, if the FTSE MIB Total Return Index rises by 1% over a day, then the ETP will fall by 5%, excluding fees. However if the FTSE MIB Total Return Index falls by 1% over a day, then the ETP will rise by 5%, excluding fees.

Index Description

The FTSE MIB Index is the primary benchmark index for the Italian equity market, measures the performance of 40 Italian equities and seeks to replicate the broad sector weights of the Italian stock market. The FTSE MIB Index is derived from the universe of stocks trading on the Borsa Italiana (BIT) main equity market, and is calculated in EUR and in price return, net total return and gross total return versions.

Potential Risks

An investment in an ETP involves a degree of risk. Any decision to invest should be based on the information contained in the relevant prospectus. Prospective investors should obtain independent accounting, tax and legal advice and should consult their professional advisers to ascertain the suitability of this ETP as an investment to their own circumstances.

This ETP is structured as a debt security and not as shares (equity) and can be created and redeemed on demand by authorised participants and traded on exchange just like shares in a company. This ETP is not a UCITS product.

Investing in Short and Leveraged ETPs is only suitable for sophisticated and or informed investors who understand leverage, daily rebalancing and compounded daily returns and are willing to magnify potential losses. Short and Leveraged ETPs are only intended for investors who understand the risks involved in investing in an ETP with short or leveraged exposure and who intend to invest on a short term basis. Any investment in a short or leveraged ETP should be monitored on a daily basis to ensure consistency with your investment strategy. You should understand that investments in daily leveraged ETPs held for a period of longer than the recommended holding period of one day, may not provide returns equivalent to the return from the relevant unleveraged investment multiplied by the relevant leverage factor over the same period. Daily compounding may result in returns which an investor may not expect, if the investor has not fully understood how a daily leveraged ETP works. Potential losses in leveraged ETPs may be magnified in comparison to investments that do not incorporate leverage. In extreme volatility, returns of leveraged ETPs, even over one day, may under-perform the return of the underlying unleveraged index multiplied by the ETP's leverage factor because of protection mechanisms within the ETP structure, intended to protect against intra-day market crashes. For more information see here.

Market Risk: The value of securities in this ETP is directly affected by increases and decreases in the value of the Index. Accordingly, the value of a security may go up or down and a security holder may lose some or all of the amount invested but can not lose more than the amount invested.

Liquidity risk: There can be no certainty that securities can always be bought or sold on a stock exchange or that the market price at which the securities may be traded on a stock exchange will always accurately reflect the performance of the Index.

Currency Risk: The price of securities in this ETP is generally quoted in EUR. To the extent that a security holder purchases securities in another currency, the value will be affected by changes in the exchange rate.

Counterparty risk: The Issuer is reliant on there being swap counterparties available to enter into swap agreements on a continuing basis and, if no swap counterparties are willing to do so, the ETP will not be able to achieve its investment policy of tracking the performance of the Index.

Credit Risk: The Issuer is subject to the risk that third party service providers may fail to return property or collateral belonging to the Issuer or pay money due to the issuer. The ETP is backed by swaps. The payment obligations of the swap counterparties to the Issuer are protected by collateral held which is marked to market daily. The collateral is held in segregated accounts at The Bank of New York Mellon. In the event a swap counterparty defaults, the proceeds from realisation of the collateral may be less than what the investor expects. Details of the collateral held can be found in the Collateral section of the WisdomTree website (www.Wisdomtree.Com).

Please see the risks factors section of the Prospectus for a more detailed discussion of the potential risks

Glossary

Dividend Weighted Index: an index that determines the weight of its constituents using the dividends paid by the security rather than another variable (the most common is Market Cap weighted indices).

Fully Replicated: assets are invested in securities that match the constituents of the relevant index, in the same proportion.

Fundamentally Weighted Index: an index that weights securities on the basis of factors such as dividends or earnings.

Large Cap, Mid Cap and Small Cap: refers to market capitalisation and is calculated by multiplying the price of a stock by the number of shares outstanding.

Listing currency: the trading currency on the exchange.

Physical (Optimised): assets are predominantly invested in securities that are constituents of the index, but may also hold securities whose characteristics closely resemble the characteristics of the index.

Physically Backed: securities held by the fund are the actual securities not a derivative.

Rebalance: An index is created by applying a certain set of selection and weighting rules of countries, sectors and stocks at a certain frequency. A Rebalance is when WisdomTree re-applies its rules based selection and weighting process.

Rebalance Frequency: The frequency by which the constituents of the index are screened and their weights changed.

Replication Method: the method by which the fund gets exposure to the benchmark index.

Share class currency or the "NAV currency": The currency that the fund's NAV is issued in.

Total Expense Ratio (TER): A measure of the total costs associated with managing and operating a fund. The TER consists primarily of management fees plus other expenses such as trustee, custody and operating expenses. It does not cover the swap fee. The TER is expressed as a percentage of the fund's total net asset value.
